

The Public Risk Management Association's core purpose is to advance the knowledge and practice of public risk management.

The association provides information, education & training to public agencies on liability and other exposures that affect their operations and is committed to improving the operation of state and local entities through proven risk management techniques.

PRIMA is the only U.S.-based organization with the sole purpose of serving public sector risk managers.

NATIONAL PRIMA

PRIMA—The name implies the best, without equal. And the Public Risk Management Association and its chapters are just that.

PRIMA was founded in 1978, a time when fluctuations in the insurance market made public agencies acutely aware of the need for good risk management. PRIMA is an independent organization composed of local governments, risk management pools, and other organizations that actively manage the risks of providing public services.

PRIMA's membership includes close to 3,000 general and special-purpose governments. PRIMA has 27 chapters in the United States and Canada. In addition, the association has affiliations with organizations in Australia, Europe, and other nations.

PRIMA is your
Partner for Success!
